Projects

1. Personal Website: Designed and developed a personal website from scratch, garnering praise for its user-friendly and responsive design. Optimized for multiple devices, it showcases my web development skills and creativity. Explore the site at <https://masonliao319.github.io/myweb/> for a demonstration of my work.
2. Small Airline Simulator: Developed a Java-based Seat Chosen Application for a small airline and I converted it into an executable .exe file. For more details, visit my site showcasing this project.
3. Countdown Timer: Created an interactive webpage that functions as a birthday countdown, calculating the days remaining until the user's next birthday from the current date. This engaging tool adds a fun element to anticipation. For a closer look at this project, please visit my website.
4. SYN flood Attack Simulation: Led a team project to develop a SYN flood Attack simulation using Python, crafting a script that initiates continuous connections to a specific IP address. This project demonstrates our collective expertise in network security concepts. To explore more about our work, visit my website for details.
